About This Game

Battle demons and undead attorneys, and win souls to pay back your student loans! At the elite demonic-law firm of Varkath Nebuchadnezzar Stone, you'll depose a fallen god, find romance, and maybe even make partner, if you don't lose your own soul first.

"Choice of the Deathless" is a necromantic legal thriller by Max Gladstone, Campbell Award-nominated author of Three Parts Dead and Two Serpents Rise. The game is entirely text-based--without graphics or sound effects--and fueled by the vast, unstoppable power of your imagination.

- Explore a fantasy realm with a rich and evolving backstory, based on the novels published by Tor Books.
- Play as male or female, gay or straight, dead or alive (or both).
- Build your career on carefully reasoned contracts, or party all night with the skeletal partners at your firm.
- Navigate intrigue and mystery in a world of scheming magicians and devious monsters.

- Look for love in at least some of the right places.
  - Balance student loans, sleep, daily commute, rent payments, and demonic litigation—hey, nobody said being a wizard was always fun.

The faceless man leads you back to the stairs; you climb three flights, then turn around and descend five flights more. The door on this floor, which you don't remember passing on your climb up, opens onto a closet sized room that looks exactly like your office back at the firm. Exactly.

Right down to the version of you sitting behind the desk.

"What can we do for you?" the demon-you asks.

- "I need your help."
- "You can issue a post-dated exit visa for one of your citizens, pursuant to form XJ-723-99, a completed copy of which I have here."
- "I'm here to offer you a chance to be a hero."

The sky over the demon world is broken. Lightning licks the strange geometries of cloud. Around you rises the demon-city Akargath, warped crystal and flame, thorns and razor wire. And this is the nice part of town.

Gods, you hurt. Your skin's a burned ruin. Bones in your ribs grind when you breathe. Your suit hangs in tatters from your body.

Your enemy stands before you: a towering figure of glass and knives. Cackling madly, he raises one hand. Dark power crackles along his talons.

The battle's taken almost all your strength. Your Craft, your own power, stands at ebb.

If you don't win this thing soon, you're done.

- I wait for my enemy to attack, then redirect his power against him!
- I strike while I can, and give no quarter.
- I run and hide.

Pat meets her galaxy-eyes without a hint of awe. "Lady, we have come to ask you questions. And we bind you to answer honestly." His words change the space in which you hover: it acquires sharpness and solidity that remind you of wheels and gears and pulleys and levers. The goddess hisses.

And so the battle's joined.

What's your strategy?

- Go easy on the goddess. Try to lull her into complacency.
- We press her with question after question until she breaks.
- We trap her in a contradiction.
